MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT:

Tax on IBM Equipment

- 1. This memorandum is for information.
- 2. In December 1965 you noted publicity concerning the effort of Virginia county authorities to assess taxes on IBM equipment leased by the Central Intelligence Agency. As you directed, we sought a formal opinion from the Department of Justice by a letter of 30 December 1965. We have now received the attached letter from the Department of Justice which states such taxes are not barred by the Federal Constitution. However, the letter further states that IBM may not pass these taxes on to the Government and that the General Services Administration has informed Justice that the imposition of these taxes is not likely to affect future contract prices.
- 3. We will work with the Deputy Director for Support to try to assure that future handling of these tax matters with the county authorities does not result in publicity about the Agency.

Honorable Lawrence R. Houston General Counsel Central Intelligence Agency Washington, D. C. 20505

Re: Central Intelligence Agency v. Fairfax County, Virginia

Dear Mr. Houston:

This refers to your letter of December 30, 1965.

Inasmuch as (1) the equipment leased by the Central Intelligence Agency from International Business Machines Company is not located in an area over which the Federal Government has exclusive jurisdiction; and (2) the legal incidence of the Virginia personal property tax is upon the owner and not the lessee of the property, the taxes, absent a showing of administrative discrimination, are not barred by the Federal Constitution. This would also be true with respect to leased equipment in Arlington County not located in areas over which the Federal Government has exclusive jurisdiction.

However, since these taxes are not "levied on or measured by the contract or sales price of the services or completed supplies furnished under" the contract, International Business Machines Company may not pass them on to the Government. Moreover, we have been informed by the General Services Administration that their imposition is not likely to affect future contract prices.

If we may be of further service to you in this matter, please do not hesitate to call on us. Unless we hear from you by March 1, 1966, we will assume that your inquiries have been fully answered and will close our files.

Sincerely yours,

C. MOXLEY FEATHERSTON
Acting Assistant Attorney General

FRED B. UGAST, Chief General Litigation Section

such paragraph requires encasement in a concrete envelope only of asbestos cement conduir and that it permits direct burial in the earth of plastic conduit without such encasement. It asserts therefore that the Contracting Officer's decision requiring it to encase plastic conduit in a concrete envelope amounted to a change in contract requirements which entitles it to an equitable adjustment in the contract price under the "Changes" clause of the contract for the added cost of the concrete envelope. On the other hand, the Government argues that Appellant's obligation regarding the installation of plastic conduit is not limited by paragraph 63-03h but that the provisions of paragraph 63-02c are also for application and since the plastic conduit installed by the Appellant was not approved by Underwriters' Laboratories, such conduit had to be encased in a concrete envelope.

It is to be noted that paragraph 63-02c applies to all materials, etc., installed under the contract whereas paragraph 63-03h applies specifically to conduits installed in the areas specified, it is apparent that the effect of the Government's position is that there is no inconsistency between the provisions of the aforesaid two paragraphs and, therefore, when construcd together, they required Appellant to encase the Carlon conduit it installed in a concrete envelope. It is also apparent from Appellant's sole reliance upon the provisions of paragraph 63-03h that it is Appellant's position that the provisions of paragraph 63-02c are not for application in the resolution of the instant dispute. It is evident that the basis for this position is that the provisions of paragraph 63-02c and 63-03h are inconsistent with each other and since the specific governs over the general, the provisions of paragraph 63-03h govern over the provisions of paragraph 63-02c. Manifestly, therefore, if the Appellant's interpretation of paragraph 63-03h is reasonable, its position must be sustained.

Paragraph 63-03h provides:

"Conduits * * * shall be hot dipped galvanized rigid steel conduit, fiber, plastic, or asbestos cement encased in 3

The Government argues, of course, that the phrase, "encased in a 3 inch minimum concrete envelope" refers to all of the types of conduit named. If a comma had been inserted after "asbestos cement" we would have no hesitation in agreeing with the interpretation urged by the Goverinnent and would hold that Appellant's contract required Appellant to encase plastic conduit in the concrete envelope specified. But in the absence of such a comma in the place indicated, it does appear that "encased in 3 inch minimum concrete envelope" could be construed to refer solely to "asbestos cement" and not to the other types of conduit proceding "asbestos cement." Although we are of the opinion cement." Although we are of the opinion that the Government interpretation of the above quoted lan lage is reasonable, we are also of the opinion that the Appellant's interpretation thereof is equally so. In view thereof and the principles enunciated in WPC ENTERPRISES, INCOR-PORATED v. UNITED STATES, 163 Ct. Cl. 1, we hold that appellant is entitled to the equivable adjustment in the contract price which it claims. The matter is remanded to the Contract any Officer to determine the amount of the equitable adjustment

TAXES - USE TAX - MEASURE-RENTAL v. COMPONENT COST .--A computer manufacturer and lessor who paid a California use tax on the equipment was entitled to reimbursement under three leases to the government because the tax was levied on the use of the equipment rather than on the use of its components. The terms of one lease provided that the government would pay "any taxes levied on the equipme or its use," and two leases proved for government payment of any taxes "measured by" the contract price. The contracting officer demed reimbursement on the ground that the tax was imposed not on the use of the equipment but on the use of its component raw materials by the contractor. However, under California law, the owner of property "uses" it when he leases it, and the tax statute permits taxpayers to measure the taxes either by the cost of the raw component materials or by the contract price. Inasmuch as the leases permitted reimbursement for taxes on the use of the equipment and "measured by" the contract price, the GSBCA determined that the contracting officer had erred in his interpretation of the lease.

Kenneth E. Karger for the appellant. Richard F. Kerr and Miss Allie B. Latimer for the government.

Opinion by Mr. Koontz with Mr. Sheehan and Mr. Hersh concurring.

This appeal is concerned with three agreements covering the rental to the Government of automatic data processing equipment under lease agreements GS-OOS-37453 for the fiscal year 1963, GS-OOS-46508 for the fiscal year 1964, and GS-OOS-49754 for the fiscal year 1965, respectively. The dispute arises over the refusal of the Contracting Officer to direct reimbursement to the lessor of $40,780.40, which amount was paid to the State of California, as "use taxes" assessed on the leased equipment.

The equipment was installed on the premises of the United States Naval Air Station at Alameda, California, and of the Ames Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Moffett Field, California. The lease agreements were negotiated by the Federal Supply Service under its Federal Supply Schedule, a service performed for any Federal agency desiring to lease such equipment. Rental fees and other costs are paid by the agencies using the equipment. The Federal Supply Service acts merely in a procurement capacity. The lessor bases its claim for reimbursement of the "use" tax on two provisions in the lease agreements. They are:

"GS-00S-37453 (Fiscal Year 1963)

Taxes: Any taxes levied on the equipment or its use shall be added to the rental charges incurred and shall be paid by the Government.

"GS-00S-46508 and GS-00S-49754 (Fiscal Years 1964 and 1965)

State and Local Taxes: Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 24 of the Supplemental Provisions (GSA Form 1424), the contract price excludes all state and local taxes levied on or measured by the contract or sales price of the service or completed supplies furnished under this contract. Taxes excluded from the contract price pursuant to the preceding sentence shall be separately stated on lioncywell's invoices and the Government agrees either to pay to Honeywell amounts covering such taxes or to provide evidence necessary to sustain an exemption therefrom."

The agreements also contain the standard 'Disputes' clause.

Section 6201 of the CALIFORNIA REV-ENUE AND TAXATION CQDL provides: 'An excise tax is hereby amponed on the STORAGE, USE, or OTHER CONSUMP-TION in this State of TANGIBEL PERSONAL PROPERTY purchased from they retailer on or after July 1, 1935, for morage, use (Emphasis by the Court.) "Use" includes the exercise of any right or power over tangible personal property incident to the ownership of that property, e lept that it does not include the sale of the property in the regular course of busine 3." (Section 6009, CALIFORNIA REVIOUE AND TAXATION CODE.) The "use" tax is intended to reach property purchased for use and storage in California from out-ofstate retailers, who are not subject to the California sales tax. One () the chief purposes of the "use" tax is to help retailers in California who are subject to the sales tax, to compete on an equal footing with their out-of-state competitors who are exempt from the California sales tax. BANK OF AMERICA v.ST A EBOARD OF EQUALIZATION, 26 Cal. Retr. 348 (1962); AMERICAN AIRLINI INC. v. STATE BOARD OF EQUALITYTION, 30 Cal. Rptr. 590 (1963). The use tax is limited to the use of propert purchased outside the State for use with a the State. It is not intended to apply as property subject to the sales tax. All moperty not actually covered by the sates is subject to the use tax. The this is complemental to the sales tax and, as such, is intended to supplement the codes tax by imposing on those subject the hax burden equivalent to the sales tax in order that tangible personal property sola or utilized in California would be taxable at least once for support of the state Covernment. California sales and use tax are not interdependent; each is a ser cate tax. The sales tax is imposed on the retailer for the privilege of selling tangible personal property while the use tax is levied on the purchaser who stores, uses, or consumes property in California which has been purchased outside the Start. BANK OF AMERICA V. STATE BUARD OF EQUALIZATION, supra. #1

Appellant manufactures automitic data processing equipment out the time State of California. Following insulfation of the equipment at the afore-men used Government facilities, Appellant with advised by its counsel that the least of the equipment to the Government constituted a taxable use under the California law.

At the oral hearing, held in this matter September 12, 1966, Appellant offered m evidence a document, received from the State Board of Equalization, assessing the tax (with interest), and a photostat of Appellant's check in payment thereof (Appellant's Exhibit No. 2).

It seems clear that the automatic data processing equipment is tangible personal property within the meaning of the statute, and it is also clear that Appellant as owner of the tangible personal property has the liability for its payment.

The Contracting Officer in denying reirrbursement of the tax took the position that the tax is imposed not on the manuiacturer's use of the equipment itself. but on the use of its components, i.e., the tax is assessed on the value of the components purchased by the manufacturer and used within the State of California. Under those circumstances, said the Contracting Officer, the Government was of the opinion that reimbursement was not warranted under the terms of lease agreements GS-OOS-37453 (for fiscal year 1963) since reimbursement was authorized only with respect to taxes imposed upon the use of equipment, and not on the contractor's use of its components. Likewise, said the Contracting Officer, re-mbursement cannot be allowed under Contracts GS-OOS-46508 and GS-OOS-49754 for fiscal years 1964 and 1965, since those contracts authorize payment for de facto sales taxes only. The Contracting Officer went on to say that the Government was not unmindful that those contracts permitted reimbursement for taxes "measured by" the contract price and that the California law permitted the use of periodic rental payments as a measure of the tax. In this connection, he points out, the use of the term "measured by" was intended only to allow reishbursement for taxes which, while in fact sales taxes, were not levied on sales but levied on gross recespes, or gross income, or from other incident such as the privilege of doing business Offered in evidence as Appellant's Exhibit No. 7, is a photostatic copy of ruling of the Sales Tax Council of the State Board of Equalization which recites that "When the lessor is also the manufacturer of the property he leases, he may pay the tax measured by the cost of the property he leases, he may pay the tax measured by the cost of the property to him or by the amount of the rental receipts, at his election.

The cost of the property is the cost of the raw materials. . . . Only to the extent that the manufacturer purchases raw materials which become a component part of the rental article does tax liability arise based on the cost of such materials. If the raw materials a purchased in this state [California] and the vendor pays the sales tax, there is no further tax liability with respect to rental of the article if the rental is not in lieu of a sale. If the manufacturer is located outside the state so that the raw materials were not subject to the state sales tax, the use tax applies if the manufactured article is rented in this state prior to substantial use outside the state." From this it would appear that the cost of the component parts are used as a measure of the tax to be appeased under the California Use Tax law,

The board finds that the case of UNION OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA'V, THE STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION, 34 Cal. Rptr. 872 (1963) is controlling here, that case dealt with the assessment of the use tax on the owner of two vessels purchased in New Jersey and leased for use and operation in California waters. The court held that under the use tax statute the owner of the property "uses" it when he leases it. The use, said the court, of the lessor through the lease in California is a California use.

The Board finds that the Contracting Officer erred in his interpretation of the tax-provisions of the subject lease agreements.

Our consideration of this matter has been limited to the issue of entitlement. The appeal is remained for appropriate action consistent with the views herein.

The real property which comprises the CIA Headquerters site at langley was the subject of an agreement for concurrent jurisdiction, the matherity for which may be found at 40 USC 255 and in the Code of Virginia (1950) at Sec. 7-21 and 7-24. In this connection, there are enclosed for information copies of two letters written on 25 July 1961 by the then Director of Central Intelligence, Homorable Allen V. Bulles, to Governor Almond of Virginia which are believed to be self-explanatory (Attachments 6 and H). Herewith also is a copy of the Beed of Cession referred to in one of the letters (Attachment I).

It might be apropos to point out that the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Virginia (171) provides that no state tax for state purposes shall be levied on tangible personal property while feet. 58-9 of the Virginia Code provides that only local taxes may be imposed on real estate and tangible personal property. Sec. 7-21, in reserving to the Commonwealth the right to tax all property not belonging to the United States, provides that for purposes of taxetion and jurisdiction the (United States) lands shall be deemed to be a part of the city or county in which they are situated.

The contract between CJA and IBM involving the leasing of the equipment being taxed follows a standard form issued by the General Services Administration (GGA). A copy of a typical contract with IBM is enclosed (Attachment J). Even prior to the passage this year of PL 89-306, GEA generally supervised governmental leasing of computer equipment. The Procurement Division of CIA has, upon making inquiry, received informal advice from GEA that in the event IBM pays the personal property taxes in question and then attempts to bill CIA for same, the matter should be referred to GEA for a ruling. This will be done in the absence of any objection from your Office, since it is our understanding that your Office has been in contact with the Office of General Counsel of GGA regarding this matter. There are quoted hereafter two paragraphs taken from the "boiler plate" previsions of IBM booklet pertaining to Government contracts:

STATE AND LOCAL PAXES

Betwithstanding the provisions of Article 36 of the Supplemental Provisions (QSA Posm 1420), the Contract price excludes all State and local taxes levied on or measured by the Contract or sales price of the services or completed supplies furnished under this Contract. Taxes excluded from the Contract price pursuant to the preceding sentence shall be separately stated on IBM's invoices and the Government agrees either to pay to IBM amounts covering such taxes or to provide evidence necessar; to sustain an exception Apphared from Release 2003/05/21: CIA-RDP78-01092A000100020001-7

Attention: Mr. Villiam Masser

Dear Mr. Amberta:

The Director of Central Intelligence has requested that there be referred to the Department of Justice the question as to whether or not the County of Fairfax, Virginia, may properly assess personal property taxes equipment leased by the International Resiness Machines Corporation (IEM) to the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and used at its Headquesters near Langley, Virginia, in Fairfax County. As a corollary to this and assuming the tax may be assessed properly equinat IEM, we would further inquire as to whether or not IEM could properly pass this tax on to CIA as a proper charge against the rental contract.

The "discovery" by IEM of its liability for the tax in question was aired in the local newspapers, and copies of pertinent articles published in the Washington Post and the Alexandria Gazette are attached (Attachments A and B). An interesting angle of the Gazette article is that it presents the distinct possibility that equipment leased to the Commonwealth of Virginia and located in Fairfax County has not been taxed, thus raising the further possibility of an unequal or discriminatory application of the tax in question.

For your information, we enclose Fairfax County letter of 19 August 1965 to IBM (Attachment C) and their reply of 5 Hovember 1965 (Attachment D). For your further information and as may be seen from copies of the enclosed correspondence, IBM's local attorneys, Covington and Burling, have given an opinion to the effect that IBM is liable for the tax (Attachment 2). IBM advises that the computers on which they have paid taxes are remted to Fairfax County School Board and to the County Tax Department. A copy of the IBM letter to the County pertaining to tax liability is enclosed (Attachment F). Bosed on this evaluation, assuming it is acceptable, Fairfax County will present a tax bill to IBM.

Re: CTA Building, McLean, Virginia

Dear Dr. Gronowski:

We have been advised by Mr. Lansdale in the Gameria Counsel's office of the CIA that the United States on the configuration over the CIA property in McLean, Virginia. This situation results from the change of letters between the Governor of Virginia and the head of the CIA who, at the time of the exchange of letters, was Allen Dulles.

We did not discuss with Mr. Lansdale the problem of outdining information as to the specific number of macoriate which the CIA has installed at the building in McLian. Please let us know if you need any further assistance in this connection.

As you are understoodly well aware, the fact that the United States excelled only concurrent jurisdiction over the CIA property means that Ick's machines installed thereon are subject to personal property taxes of the State of Virginia.

Sincerely yours,

SUBJECT

: Local Tax Assessment on Agency Leased

Equipment

- 1. Attached is a report from the Director of Logistics indicating those firms that have rented equipment to the Agency, which equipment is located in Agency facilities in Virginia and subject to Personal Property Tax.
- 2. It is requested that action be taken to arrange with the Fairfax County Tax Supervisor that there be no further publicity concerning equipment rented from these companies.
- 3. The DCI in an Executive Committee meeting requested that the matter of Fairfax County authorities assessing Personal Property Tax against firms renting equipment to Federal locations be taken up with the Department of Justice to determine whether this action by the County authorities is proper and within their authority. It is requested that you resolve this aspect.

SUBJECT:

Local Tax Assessment on Agency leased equipment

- 1. This memorandum is for information and consideration in connection with local taxes on Agency leased equipment.
- 2. The County of Fairfax publicized the assessment of a personal property tax on equipment leased to the Agency by the International Business Machines Corporation and installed in the CIA Building at Langley. The attached documents (Attachments A-H) establish the chronology of events between the contractor and the County of Fairfax. Upon the completion of the events noted, the Fairfax County Supervisor, Mr. Ferguson, called a press conference which resulted in the publication of the news article.
- 3. A review has been made of leased equipment under unclassified contracts and the attached listing (Attachment I) identifies the equipment and the location. These various equipments are located not only in the Headquarters building but elsewhere and may be subject to the like assessments and publicity.
- 4. In addition to the above, a number of leased equipments are in the hands of contractors and in cover installations under Agency sterile contracts. These do not pose a present problem inasmuch as the classification precludes disclosure without prior authorization by the Contracting Officer.
- 5. The situation concerning the County of Fairfax and the Headquarters complex seems to warrant at least an informal approach to the county authorities to obtain an understanding regarding public disclosure of matters affecting the Agency.

Subject: Local Tax Assessment on Agency leased equipment

The present publicity appears definitely to have violated the Virginia code Title 58 Section 46 which is designed to protect against the disclosure of tax information. Further, since other contractors have furnished leased equipment to the Headquarters Building, like information will be required for a tax assessment by the county which should not be publicly disclosed except as provided by statute.

- 6. In addition to the Fairfax jurisdiction, leased equipment is installed in other tax jurisdictions and political subdivisions as indicated in Attachment I. These may also be potential publicity areas depending upon the local tax assessment requirements.
- 7. It is recommended that this problem be worked out between the Public Relations Office and the Office of General Counsel with the Fairfax County Tax authorities. The information to be revealed by the Agency on a confidential basis with the proviso that no public disclosures will be made.

A CONTRACT CONTRACT OF STATE O

We have been advised by Mr. Lansdale in the Concrat Counsel's office of the CIA that the United States exercises only concurrent jurisdiction over the CIA propcrty in McLean, Virginia. This situation results from an emchange of letters between the Governor of Virginia and the head of the CTA who, at the time of the exchange of letters, was Allen Dulles.

We did not discuss with Mr. Lansdale the problem of obtaining information as to the specific number of machines which the CIA has installed at the building in Mclean. Please let up know if you need any further assistance in this connection.

As you are undoubtedly well aware, the fact that the United States exercises only concurrent jurisdiction over the CEA property means that TBM's machines installed thereon are subject to personal property taxes of the State of Virginia.

Sincerely yours,

hered to by the taxing authorities. In practical application, the proviso relating to the order of the Governor is of little importance. The proviso relating to "any public assessment roll or book" relates only to the Tangible Personal Property Assessment Book and the Real Estate Assessment Book. On both of these books only the total figure is set forth and no breakdown or itemization of the tangible personal property is open for inspection by any person. The proviso relating to "any act performed or works spoken or published in the line of duty under the law" is in practice limited to dealings or litigation between the individual tax payer and the State. In litigation involving third parties, officers and employees of the State have successfully refused to testify as to such information in both Federal and State Courts.

The penalty for unlawful divulsions of such information is set forth in the enclosed statute.

If the foregoing information is not entirely responsive to your inquiry, I will be glad to go into the matter further upon your request.
